SPIRITS OF THE AGE. A Hell for Kicking Mules.

Abraham intrusted Isano to God for Sundry Beliefs.

|New York Sun.1 Mr. Oliver Johnson says there is active truth nor reason in character-izing Garrison as an infidel.

The Rev Dr. Lyman Abbot says that the catholic diguttaries have taken a course both wise and gener-ous in respect to archbishop Purcell's debts.

Major Overstolz of St. Louis spoke as follows to the United States Brewers' Association: "I would not by any means underrate the evils of intemperance; they are undoubtedly gerious and widespread, but I am quite convinced that the manufact-wre and use of mild and pure malt liquors tend to mitigate and restrain

Mr. Charles Backus, the negro Mr. Charles Backus, the negro-minstrel said to a reporter of the Rochester Union: "My forte is as a vocalist. I sing 'Baby Mine' from actual observation. I am half owner of one that is sixteen months old. This fact will account for the tender and pathetic manner in which I ren-der that song. The only thing which I like better is 'Pinafore.' that is new. We were the first to introduce it in this country. We sang it in the lun-atic asylum in Rochester the other day, and were going to give it to the convicts in Auburn Prison, but were prevented on the ground that cruel and inhuman punishment had been abolished:

Bishop Simpson said, in a Philadelphia speech: I believe that the day is near when the entire continent of America will be under our glorious and beautiful flag. I do not desire to aggrandize our territory, but thank God, who has given us a Government that can reach out and rule the whole of North America that when the time does come we can when the time does come we can avail ourself of it with profit.

Mr. Dion Boucicault writes as follows to the Spirit of the Times:

The profession has fallen into such disorder that the managers of thea-tres throughout the Union have resolved next season to engage no com-panies at all, but will job their houses TWO. FOUR AND SIX HORSE or two pieces. This system is destructive to the art of acting for the rising generation of artists will play rising generation of artists will play one part per year. There will be no emulation, so pride in success. They will be mere hacks attached to a perambulating booth. If any star actor will speak of his experience, he will say that by constant repetition of one part the artistic power becomes blunted. Mr. Jefferson in Rip Van Wiake and Mr. Booth in Hamtet fluds great trouble in forcing their spirits to the level of these characters. How the level of these characters. How will it be with actors of less power, when 'cribbed, cabined, and confined' in a 'combination?" Why, their minds will be paralyzed.

Bottom Figures.

Mr. Thomas Whiffin who has appeared over 150 times as Sir Joseph Porter in "Pinafore," says it is rare and refreshing now to see anybody laugh at the fun of the piece. The sudience appear to be made up of persons who are familiar with the words, and simply come to hear the music. They sit solemnly critical through it all, and that makes dispiriting work for the performers.

And contracting for building.

Freemsn's faith had really been perfect, like Abraham's, the child would have been miraculously saved.

The Rev. Dr. Athar Mitchell of Chicago combats the idea that Abraham really intunded or expected to kill Isaac. He simply intrusted his son to God for an hour. The Doctor savs, God having distinctly promised to give him bock. This is as different from sarrificing him as my adictive to give him bock. Abraham is never commended in Scripture for any purpose of his, that Isaac should die; but for his unfailing faith that, come what may, Isaac should live, since God had promised it.

Mr. R. M. Pulsifer of the Boston Herald quotes the statement that the people of the United States pay $700. 200,000 a year for spirituous and fermented liquors, and only $95,500,000 for education, and $48,000,000 for religion. "Taking a handful of skewers simlar to those used for cooking pur-poses, each about a foot long, he call-ed the wildest half-stripped disciple to him, and opening his mouth, mut-tering the while with great apparent intensity of concentration a prayer or invocation, he with a sudden jerk forced the point clean through the cheek so that it could be seen projecting on the other side. He repeated the process with the other cheek, ed the process with the other cheek, the man showing no signs of pain and not a drop of blood flowing from the wound. He then went to his son, who caimly gazed at him with his large swimming eyes, opened his mouth, and received a stab through the cheek without the quiver of an eyelid. I was watching him closely and could not observe the slightest muscular contraction. The point was clearly projecting through the skin, and deception was impossible, as there was every opportunity afforded for the closest inspection.
